

ABSTRACT

A printing system including an instant message server configured to process data received using instant message protocol, an instant message printer application associated with the instant message server configured to 5 translate print data received in instant message protocol into a printable format, and a printer coupled with the instant message printer application configured to print the translated print data.